TWO PRODUCTIONS TO OPEN DRAMATIC SEASON THURSDAY

"Overtones" and "Common Clay" Plays to Be Given.

The first one-act plays of the season will be presented in the Playhouse Thursday evening at 8:00 p. m. "Overtones," by Alice Gerstenberg, will be the first on the programme. It is a well known play dealing with the psychology of the dual personality and was the forerunner of a great influx of this type of drama. Overtones is being directed by Emily White 29, and the cast is made up entirely of the senior members of the Wig and Pen Margaret Lackie plays the part of Harriet, Elizabeth McDermott, Hetty; Dorothy Deitz, Marjorie and Doris Collins, Maggie.

George M. Cohan's "Common Clay" is the second play of the evening. It is rather hilarious in parts and should prove thoroughly entertaining. Professor V. Spenser Goodreds is directing the performance. The cast is made up of Freddie Ryeburn Lynch, Emily White, Arthur Pierce, James C. Thomson, Edward R. Denio, Elbert Henry, Clarissa Pierce and Harold Higgins.

Raymond Bosworth is designing and painting the sets for the productions.

YOU CAN STILL JOIN THE DRAMATIC CLUB

Anyone who is interested in belonging to the Dramatic Club for the coming season, and has not been able to join, can get a ticket at the box office before the one-act plays Thursday evening in the Playhouse.

RHODES CANDIDATES FOR 1929 CHOSEN

Malam, Davis and Lawrence Selected to Represent Middlebury.

Charles F. Malam, '28, W. Earl Davis, '29, and Ellsworth N. Lawrence, '29, were chosen last week as candidates for appointment to the Rhodes Scholarship for study at Oxford University.

Rhodes Scholarships are given to men who have completed at least two years of college, and who have proved themselves outstanding as well-rounded students. Literary and scholastic ability, qualities of manhood, character, leadership and physical vigor are the attainments to be considered. Only one Scholarship is given in Vermont each year. Election of the successful candidate by the State Committee will be held December 8.

Mr. Malam held various positions both on the Blue Baboon and Saxonian literary staffs, and engaged in intramural athletics while in college. The first book of poems ever published by a Middlebury undergraduate was produced by Mr. Malam. Mr. Davis has engaged in athletics, is a member of the Glee Club and Band, and has maintained a good scholastic average. Mr. Lawrence participated in Freshman and Class Football, is Manager-elect of Track, and was chairman of the Junior Week Advertising Committee last year.

DEAN'S LIST.

The Dean's office has made the announcement that the following students are eligible for the Dean's List:

Men: Richard Sanzo, Edmund Bray, Paul Ciavarra, Roy Davenport, Harold King, Clayton Lewis, Newman Weeks.

English Club Membership Extended to Sophomores

The first meeting of the English Club for this year was held Wednesday, October 10, in Old Chapel. The gathering was informal and its main purpose was to assemble last year's members and to formulate plans for an active and successful season. The most important decision reached at this first meeting was that in addition to Juniors and Seniors, all sophomores who can qualify shall be admitted to membership.

The English Club, which was formed in 1922, is selective, and only those upper classmen with the required high grades are eligible for election. At their meetings the members read and discuss the books of well known authors. Although no definite plans have been made concerning the books to be considered this year, the club is agreed that they shall be interesting and alive, and a successful year is anticipated.

Anyone wishing to apply for membership should give his name to one of the following members before Saturday, October 20: Bosworth '29, Waite '29, Miss Trask '29, Miss Collines '29, or any member of the English Club.

TWEEDY IS ELECTED TO HEAD SOPH HOP

Class of 1931 Chooses Dance Chairman; Committtee to Be Selected Soon.

John Nelson Tweedy, '31, of Stamford, Conn., was elected chairman of Sophomore Hop at a meeting of the class held yesterday at the Warner Hemicycle. The choice of a committee to assist the chairman was reserved for the future, as time would not permit its selection. There was discussion, however, concerning the make up of the committee. Selection of members from each fraternity was favored by some, but the majority felt a smaller group could do the work to better advantage. The committee will be selected this week.

Plans are being laid by Mr. Tweedy to make this Soph Hop the best in years. The Inn will again be the scene of the dance, but novel decorations, music and entertainment will be in order this year.

Mr. Tweedy is active in extra curricular organizations. He was a regular member of last year's football team, and received numerals. He is a member of the Dramatic club, Delta Tau, and the Chi Psi fraternity.

SPANISH CLUB ORGANIZES.

Forty members of the Spanish Club met last Thursday at 4:30 and held a bacon bat on Chipman Hill.

After the usual activities of a bacon bat, an informal business meeting was held to organize the Club and elect a President pro tem. It was decided that a regular meeting would be held as soon as possible to elect permanent officers and to plan further the year's activities.

After the business meeting, the club lead by one of the members who plays a guitar, sang several Spanish songs, "La Golondrina", "Ah Rorra", and many others including adaptations of some American popular songs.

All those who wish to join the club and attend this meeting may do so even if they did not attend the bacon bat.

Walter J. Coates to Talk on Vermont Poets and Poetry

Walter J. Coates of North Montpelier will give an address on poets and poetry of Vermont at the Bixby Memorial Free Library in Vergennes this evening. Mr. Coates is the editor of Driftwood, a magazine devoted entirely to Vermont poetry. Several Middlebury students have contributed in the past to Driftwood and the address should consequently be of particular interest.

Entertainment Course Reservations Open Tonight

Seats for the Entertainment Course performances may be reserved beginning tonight at Frost's Pharmacy. Mr. Frost will have a chart of the seating arrangement which will be the same for each of the presentations. Each ticket will hold the same seat throughout the season. To get seats reserved your admission tickets must be presented, for which the reservations will be exchanged.

WILL PRESENT "PIRATES OF PENZANCE"

Music Department Students To Stage Opera on Nov. 21 and 22.

Students of the music department of the college are preparing to stage the "Pirates of Penzance" on the two evenings of November 21 and 22. This presentation had been scheduled for last May, but was necessarily postponed at that time.

"Pirates of Panzance," a comic opera in two acts, was written by W. S. Gilbert and composed by Arthur Sullivan. These names have long been endeared to all lovers of good musical comedy, and bid fair to stand the rigid test of time. The opera is especially well suited for young people's voices and it is the desire of the music department, and the students as well, that this presentation be demonstrative of the possibilities and benefits to be derived from concerted musical endeavor in the music department of the college.

Rehearsals have been in order for some time, and a colorful performance of this world renowned comic opera is promised for Wednesday and Thursday evenings, November 21 and 22.

F. ZUCK ELECTED FROSH PRESIDENT

Lee, Kingman, Thiele, and Callin Hold Other Offices.

Frederick Zuck of Rochester, N. Y., was elected president of the class of 1932 Tuesday afternoon in the Warner Hemicycle, with Elizabeth Lee, vice president; Martha Kingman, secretary; Eugene H. Tiele, treasurer; and Yynn Callin, freshman class representative to the Student Council.

Miss Lee of Unionville, Conn., is a member of the Dramatic Club and the Hockey squad. She is also out for the editorial staff of the CAMPUS.

Miss Kingman of River Edge, N. J., is a member of the choir, archery squad, has a part in "Pirates of Penzance," and is a "try-out" for the CAMPUS.

Mr. Thiele of Buffalo and Lake George, N. Y., is a member of the Freshman football squad.

All of these officers come to Middlebury well qualified for the important offices they now hold.

BETA KAPPA INFORMAL.

Epsilon of Beta Kappa held an informal dance Saturday evening at the Middlebury Inn in observance of Founders Day. The nineteen couples in attendance danced to music furnished by an orchestra directed by Richard Fenderson, '30. Professor and Mrs. Julius S. Kingsley and Professor and Mrs. Vernon C. Harrington were chaperones.

SAXONIAN SHORT STORY CONTEST

The Saxonian Board announces that a short story contest open to both the men's and women's colleges will be conducted from October 15 to November 15. No restrictions have been made as to the number or length of the manuscripts to be submitted.

Three prizes will be awarded, the first consisting of twenty-five dollars, the second of fifteen dollars, and the third of ten dollars. The judges will be announced later.

Last year a similar contest was held by the Saxonian and a number of interesting stories were submitted. Raymond Bosworth '29, Harold Bergman '30, Margaret Boyden '29, and Joyce Jocelyn '28 were awarded prizes.

NELSON, DUQUETTE FRESHMAN CAPTAINS

Both Have Impressive Preparatory School Records.

Walter J. Nelson and Howard A. Duquette were elected joint captains of Freshman football at a meeting of the squad held in the McCullough Gymnasium, last Friday afternoon. The vote resulted in a tie which could not be broken so the team agreed to have the two captains pilot the team on alternate weeks. Nelson is center on the team and Duquette plays quarter back.

Nelson is from Dorchester, Mass., and prepared in the Dorchester High School and Tilton Academy. He was on the football, baseball, basketball, hockey, swimming and golf teams.

Duquette is from Plattsburg, N. Y., and prepared in the local high school. He was on the baseball team for four years and captain in his second and third years. He was also captain of the basketball, skating and track teams for one season each. He won the State Skating championship and broke the record in his senior year. Duquette was a letter man in football for three years.

GERMAN CLUB OPENS SEASON.

The German Club held its first meeting Tuesday evening, October 9 in Pearsons Social Hall.

A short business meeting was held at which Alla Fitzgerald '29 was elected president, Martin Harris '29 vice-president, and Nita Willets '30 Secretary and treasurer. Muriel Harris '29 was made chairman of the entertainment committee. Meetings will be held twice a month throughout the year.

167 MIDDLEBURY STUDENTS ARE ELIGIBLE TO VOTE

There are one hundred and sixty-seven members of the student body that are eligible to vote in the coming election for president according to satistics gotten out by the registrar's office. In the men's college there are 50 seniors, 39 juniors, 20 sophomores and 6 freshmen able to vote. In the women's college there are 44 seniors, 7 juniors and 1 sophomore.

It has been urged that it is the duty of everyone of age to send home for absentee ballots in order that he or she may vote. These ballots may be procured, filled out and sworn to before a notary of public and returned to the district where the voter is registered. Registrar Jennie H. Bristol is a Notary of Public and in this capacity she would be very glad to help any member of the college.

Penalties in Third Period Prove Fatal To Middlebury.

GUARNACCIA STARS IN BLUE'S ATTACK

Ellert Snatches Aerial To Race 17 Yards For Only Score.

With an inopportune penalty in the third quarter, Middlebury's football team lost to the Massachusetts Agricultural College last Saturday on Alumni Field at No. Amherst by the score of 7 to 0. The game was evenly matched throughout and it looked as if the Panthers had a slight edge over the Massachusetts team. From the playing in the first half and the first part of the third quarter everything pointed to a Panther victory. The ball was in the Bean Staters' territory most of the time.

It all happened in the third quarter when the Blue was penalized half the distance to the goal line just as they started a march down the field. They had already entered deep into M. A. C. territory, when the referee noticed what seemed like a grave offense, the penalty for which put the ball further into Middlebury territory than it has been during the whole of the game.

The Mass. Aggie touchdown was made on a pass, Hicks to Ellert. Prior to the score there was quite a controversy among the captains and officials as to whether M. A. C. lost the ball on downs or not. The distance was measured, but even then there seemed a doubt as to whether it was first down for the Mass. Aggies or for Middlebury, but as fate would have it, first down was allowed the Aggies and their only chance to score was made good. The pass was a short flat shot to the sidelines, where Ellert grabbed it and ran 17 yards for a touchdown.

Middlebury played in the Aggies territory for the larger part of the game, but they were unable to gain when ground was most needed. Their chance came when Guarnaccia smashed through tackle for thirty yards to bring the Panthers to the Massachusetts 9 yard line. After three attempts to pierce the Aggie line and a short forward pass Middlebury lost the ball on downs to the Aggies on the three yard line.

The first quarter started with Middlebury kicking to M. A. C. who ran it back seven yards. After three short jabs through the line, they kicked unsuccessfully, giving the Panthers the ball on the opponents 45 yard line. Middlebury tried an end run and a line buck but without results. The next play, a pass, netted 7 yards but the Blue was forced to kick, which put M. A. C. on their own 45 yard line, but last the ball there on downs. M. A. C. then made two first downs, by the brilliant runs of Ellert and a little help from an offside penalty. Here the quarter ended. Score, M. A. C. 0, Middlebury 0.

The second quarter started on Middlebury's 40 yard line with the Aggies in possession of the ball. In three plays including a completed forward pass Massachusetts was able to gain only six yards so they were forced to kick, the ball rolling into the end zone, giving the ball to the Panthers on the 20 yard line. The next three plays by Willis and Guarnaccia netted 20 yards, "Sammy" doing some fine turning and dodging to make 15 yards in one of the plays. The rest of the half was a punting duel, Middlebury gaining in the exchanges. Score at half, Middlebury 0, M. A. C. 0.

The second half was somewhat more exciting than the first. The third period started with the Blue

ALUMNI PUBLICITY.

"One of the main reasons why we take the paper," writes an alumnus speaking of the Campus, "is so that we may be able to keep in touch with members of our own class and this is the only successful medium whereby we may hear of them. I should think it would be a comparatively simple thing to do and I know I am not alone in voicing the hope that you will be able to give more alumni news this year."

At the beginning of last year the Campus promised to print more alumni news than formerly in order that those who had graduated might keep in touch with their own classmates as well as with the general activities of the college.

We have not lived up to the promise. At least we have printed no more than we ever did. Before the Campus became a six-page paper we used to plead lack of room. Now we plead lack of copy. We print all that comes within our reach but we can't sit down in front of a list of the alumni and make up stories about them. Or rather, we could but we don't think it would be wise.

Group appeals are often unsuccessful for the reason that each individual thinks that if the rest respond he can shirk his duty without any material loss to the cause. Nevertheless we are going to ask each graduate subscriber to the Campus to send us one or more stories —at the very lesat write an item telling us what you are doing and where you are living. Don't think that you must get married to break into print. You are interested in even the whereabouts of other members of your class and they are interested in you. So send in your personal together with some others and we'll print them.

We have the room now. Give us the copy.

The Campus is still in the possession of a cup which was supposed to be awarded to the writer of a successful Alma Mater to take the place of the present song. The cup was not awarded because no suitable song was forthcoming. We hesitate to suggest any more plans for obtaining an Alma Mater but we believe that Middlebury should have one worthy of her accomplishments and position. Suggestions from undergraduate or alumni would be appreciated.

Holy Cross college requires its prospective students to answer the question, "Do you pledge yourself to give of your time and ability to the extra curricular activities of the college?" If the answer is in the negative admission is denied until a satisfactory explanation is forthcoming. The object sought is a laubable one even if the method savors somewhat of the too close scrutiny of student's affairs formerly characteristic of colleges in general.

Six o'clock would seem a more reasonable and convenient time than five to close the reserve book room Saturday afternoon. Besides those who are unable, because of outside work, to go to the library at the latter time there are many who would prefer the later hour because it would materially lengthen their afternoon.

COMMUNICATION

TO THE EDITOR OF THE CAMPUS:

Since it is quite apparent that a certain Fraternity is desirous of having the following letter of information which was sent to their alumni placed in the hands of various freshmen, we feel that said letter may be of importance to the remaining freshmen, and also to the members of the other fraternities on the campus. This alumni communication reads in part as follows:

"—— is entering upon the 87th year of its existence at Middlebury with greater reason for optimism than has been the case in many years. Never before has Mu realized so clearly that only personal failures and careless mistakes can prevent her from assuming and commanding leadership of fraternity affairs on campus. It is our necessity and aim to live up to the opportunities that are presented to us and make the utmost of them.

"The new lodge now in the process of construction is the greatest single factor in establishing Mu firmly in the lead when it is completed in the spring, it will be undoubtedly the finest house on the campus."

In the next few paragraphs, there is contained a somewhat detailed outline of the activities of its members, of its high scholastic standing and of its financial standing.

The letter continues with a misstatement:

"—— has the honor of numbering three of its men among eight pledges to the honorary senior society. No other fraternity has had more than two in the society for a number of years.

"Rushing situation for Mu looks promising. We have good reason to hope that we will be able to pledge full quota of fifteen. Though there are no legacies in the freshman class, at least ten have been approached before coming here and from these we are securing the nucleus of a strong delegation.——"

(Signed), G. S.

For the upperclassmen, there is no need of pointing out the various falsehoods and ambiguous statements contained in this letter. We should not be troubled so much by them, but by the fact that any fraternity before rushing week should undertake to place such a letter in the hands of a freshman. The fraternity even admits that they have already approached at least ten men. Such actions are forbidden by the Interfraternity Council, therefore what is to be done about it? How can the Interfraternity Council succeed in its purpose if it does not have the cooperation of every fraternity on the campus?

—A member of the Interfraternity Council.

THE WHISPERING CAMPAIGN.

An editorial in the Student published two days before the Middlebury football game made an appeal for enthusiasm. It also cited that one cheer leader was hardly competent to lead the crowds in the bleachers who wished to voice their holiday spirit in unison. This was a grave mistake, and an apology is due. One cheer leader was more than was necessary to lead any outbursts of emotion at the first game or at least Saturday's contest with Bowdoin. The three men who cheered when Amherst scored the winning touchdown needed no leadership.

In former times (and upon some occasions in the present) people were hired to sit in the audience and applaud at a given cue to give the appearance of an appreciate assemblage and to induce others to follow their example. Unless cheering at Amherst improves, newsboys, scattered through the crowd, will have to be paid to yell,—thirty cents for each old locomotive. Then, at last, undergraduates could sit back in their seats and say, "Ah-h-h! Who said college spirit was on the downward grade?"

—Amherst Student.

Yale has abandoned the honor system in examinations.

This fall in all classes except those of academic freshmen and the Sheffield School, examinations will be carefully supervised.

There will be no more examinations given in which there is not at least one instructor present in the capacity of proctor.—(IP).

WAMBA SAYS

Why were the Freshmen (the cheering section) in such a hurry to leave the field at the game on Porter Field Saturday; they were even nice enough to stand in front of the substitutes' bench so that the players and the coach could see how the game was progressing. If the coach had a periscope he might have been able to see when to send a substitute in. The grand stands were built to sit in and the nearsighted people are advised to bring field glasses.

The seats in chapel can't be so uncomfortable if a person falls asleep when a man like Rev. Hewitt is speaking; maybe we will have to go back to the old Puritan custom of having someone go around tickling such peoples' noses with a rabbit's tail.

Remarkable things never stop happening. Al Smith rose from the depths of the East Side to the presidential candidacy and just the other day a person was seen to actually reach the top of the stairs from the reference library without stumbling.

Now that Billy Farrell is on the pension list, we wonder how the dances will be a success without the presence of Billy's famous pipe.

Since flood lights are being used for night practice in all leading outdoor sports when will they be installed in back of the Chateau.

In a recent class in business law and argument arose as to the ligitimacy of bringing suit against a girl who broke a date. The question was not settled, so girls be careful.

Isn't it nice to have a game at home for a change. Now you can show off that new fur coat.

A large crowd followed the team to M. A. C., the whole crowd could be counted on one hand if four fingers were missing.

He came to college to think and the more he thinks about it, the more he wonders why he came.

If all the hot air wasted in Geography 25 and one tenth on solutions of a problem requiring the building of a R. R. across Bering Strait et al were applied to the point in question all the ice could be melted and most of the water evaporated and the R. R. could be run across on dry land.—Lo, the poor Indian!

He should think Professor Bryant could arrange a system of pulleys and levers whereby the library door could be gracefully opened by a single person.

That a timid freshman, unable to open the door from the inside stayed in the library all night last week.

That as yet he has not seen any attempt to hold the door open from the outside while someone else passes in really succeed. In one exhibition the girl was last seen wedged tightly between the two doors.

Because men in one of Southwestern college's dormitories were not overly careful about drawing their shades and keeping from the public a full view of their manly forms, college authorities have had the dormitory windows painted with white paint.—(IP).

INJURIES NUMEROUS ON MIDDLEBURY AND SPRINGFIELD TEAMS

Saturday's Match Will Be Decided by Strength of Reserves.

Porter Feld will be the scene of the first home football game of the season this Saturday when Middlebury will act as host to the Springfield College grid warriors. Although the rivalry of the Vermont game will be lacking, this game with the Bay Staters promises to be the banner attraction on the local gridiron this year.

Coach Jack Rothacher has an enviable reputation as a maker of fast alert teams and this year's team is no exception. When Harvard snowed the Springfield boys under at Cambridge October 6, they broke a winning streak that had been going since 1926. Delaware defeated Springfield 3-0 that year and since then there has been nothing but victories marred by 3 tie games.

The Harvard game proved disastrous for Springfield as injuries hit them thick and fast. Scrimmage was not particularly helpful and Canisius put the crowning touch on matters last Saturday when Captain Eddie Williamson dislocated his shoulder. Williamson and Duncan will surely be missing from the backfield against the Panther. As these two are Springfield's best backs, Middlebury's chances seem enhanced. The line is still in poor shape and regulars will be scarce against the Blue and White. Reserve material will probably tell the story and Springfield has good reserve material.

With the Bay Staters so bunged up, it would seem that Middlebury's chances would be greatly improved, but injuries have also played their part in disrupting the Panther lineup. MacNary and Johnson were hurt in the Aggie game and likely to be missing Saturday. MacNary is surely out and Johnson may not be able to play. Jacobs' shoulder is still in bad condition and there is very small chance of his getting into the game. Smith is not in excellent shape by any means, but will probably have to play because of the lack of reserve strength. "Gillie" needs a rest, but it looks like he will not get it.

Playing in their own backyard may help the Blue and White, but with the long string of injuries, prospects are not very bright. Taking the Yankees as a criterion, perhaps Coach Beck ought to let a truck run over his players so as to get more injuries, but strange as it may seem, injuries do not help a football team the way they did the Yanks.

With the student body present in the stands, there is not the slightest bit of doubt but what the Panther gridmen will play a better game than they have shown at any time this season. Springfield will have no easy task, but reserve material will probably spell the difference between victory and defeat, and Springfield has the better of it in regards to reserve strength.

W. S. Y.

Several interesting games are scheduled for Saturday, Oct. 20, by Eastern football teams.

Lafayette plays at Bucknell; Washington-Jefferson goes to Pittsburg to play Carnegie Tech; Columbia plays Dartmouth at Hanover.

The classic of the East probably will be the Harvard-Army game at Cambridge. Neither team has as yet demonstrated its ability this year.

Rutgers will play at New York university. Penn State will play her old rival the University of Pennsylvania at Philadelphia. Pittsburg will entertain Allegheny. Lehigh will furnish easy prey for Princeton. Brown and Yale probably will have a close game. Syracuse goes to Nebraska in an intersectional contest.—(IP).

It is considered a breach of etiquette for Oxford University women to talk on the streets with Oxford men. British newspapers recently have been commenting on the shocking manner in which the Oxford students are beginning to disregard this tradition.—(IP).

BLUE FRESHMEN TASTE DEFEAT FROM A MUCH HEAVIER CLARK TEAM 19 TO 0

NELSON-DUQUETTE SHINE FOR FROSH

Yearlings Unable To Get Started Against Strong Clark Defense.

Saturday, October 13, was an unlucky day for the Middlebury Freshman football team when they were defeated by a much heavier Clark team by a score of 19 to 0. The Frosh in spite of the handicap played the Hanoverians nearly to a standstill during the first half, but they were unable to withstand the steam roller attack for the whole game. Nelson starred at center and Attick's punting was fine.

When the first period was about half over things looked dark for the boys of '32 when Clark blocked a punt on Middlebury's 35 yard line and advanced to the 17 yard line on a pass. But on the next play Duquette saved the day by intercepting a Clark pass on his own 10 yard line and then Attick kicked out of danger. Near the end of the period Clark punted over the Frosh goal line and the ball was brought out to the 20 yard line. The Yearlings then made about 5 yards through the line and punted out. The opposing safety man fumbled, the Freshmen recovered on the Clark 25 yard line. On the next play Duquette went around left end on a crisscross to the 7 yard line. After a couple of unsuccessful line plays the Freshmen tried a pass which was grounded over the goal line, giving Clark the ball on their own 20 yard line. When the half was nearly over, Duquette fumbled a punt on his own 25 yard line and lost the ball. Clark then advanced to the 20 yard line where Anderson scored on a beautiful drop kick.

In the last half the greater weight of the Clark team showed its effect their line stopping the Frosh completely. The period had hardly started when Anderson broke through the line and blocked a punt which Dickinson grabbed on the fifteen yard line and ran for a touchdown.

From then on it was only a question of how small the Yearlings could keep the score. They put up a gallant fight but the big Clark linesmen and backs kept breaking through smearing plays behind the line, blocking punts and breaking up passes, on the offense they opened great gaping holes in the Freshman line, through which the backs tore for many yards.

Clark scored again in that period on a drop kick from the 20 yard line and in the last querater they pushed over another touchdown and kicked the extra point.

The Frosh fought hard until the final whistle, but they were overwhelmed by the weight and strength of their opponents who blocked six kicks and broke up or intercepted nearly all their passes. Nelson at center was outstanding; he and the ends were down very fast under the punts and he nipped more than a few Clark runs before they got started. Duquette broke away for a couple of pretty runs, but the whole backfield was very effectively smothered and sensational work was impossible.

The lineup:

Miller	L.E.	Thresher Veihman
Hall	L.T.	Loveday Berry
Evans	L.G.	Johnson
Cochrane	C.	Nelson
Dickinson	R.G.	Davis Riccio
Ryan	R.T.	Bakeman Kline
Feildler	R.E.	Conroy
Anderson	Q.B.	Duquette Miller
Keady	L.H.	Goering Markowsky
Wander	R.H.	Hess Theile
Knox	F.B.	Attic Herrmann

PANTHER TRACKS

There was exactly one student to cheer the boys on at the M. A. C. game. Of course there were quite a number of alumni there, but even then there was no one that would lead cheers and consequently it was a cheerless game as far as Middlebury was concerned.

It wasn't very nice of M. A. C. to clip "Mac" McNary and put him out of commission. Let us hope he will be able to function against Springfield.

Too bad Jacobs ruined his shoulder in practice last week, he migh have been used to good advantage last Saturday.

Sammy and Johnny are a great pass combination, as shown in Saturday's game.

We wonder if "Shorty" was greased. He certainly did some pretty work in slipping by our tacklers.

"Red" Huntington and his number twelves gave the Aggie quarterback something to worry about when it was the Blue's turn to boot the pigskin.

Football must run in the family. The Guarnaccias have two great stars, Sammy of Middlebury and brother of Harvard.

The score against the Aggies does not justify any conclusion as to the comparative strength of the two teams.

The big game is always the next one, so let's show Springfield just what Middlebury is made of.

Delta Upsilon Holds First Informal

Delta Upsilon fraternity held its first informal dance of the year last Saturday evening at the Chapter house. About twenty-five couples were in attendance and the music was rendered by an orchestra under the direction of Calvin Affleck.

The chaperones were: Mr. and Mrs. Raymond H. White and Mr. and Mrs. John F. Haller. Guests of the Fraternity were: Mr. and Mrs. Fay A. Simmons of Wellesley Hills, Mass., and Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Newton of Boston, Mass.

Interfraternity Golf Tournament Progressing

By Tuesday, October 16, the intramural golf tournament had progressed to the semi-finals and teams representing Chi Psi, Delta Kappa Epsilon, Sigma Phi Epsilon and Delta Upsilon had been victorious in the early matches.

Sigma Phi Epsilon, represented by Livingston, Niles and McLaughlin, defeated the Kappa Delta Rho's who were upheld by Cook, Osborn and Williams. Chi Psi was victorious over the Neutrals. Riccio and Abbot were the unlucky members of the match, and the victorious Chi Psi team consisted of Hughes, Sorenson and Waite.

The Delta Kappa Epsilon team, represented by Weston, Owen and Sherman, defeated the B. K.'s. Tibone, Barker and McClelland had been the B. K.'s hopes. The Alpha Sigma Phi team consisting of MacNary, McLeod and Howe lost to the Delta Upsilon representatives. Kelly, Brown and Franzoni were the victorious participants in this match.

In the semi-finals which will take place some time this week, Sigma Phi Epsilon meets Chi Psi and the Kappa Delta Rho's will clash with the Delta Upsilon's in the the other match.

The victors in the final match will be presented a cup by the Sages. Last year's cup was won by the D. U.'s but, fortunately for the other participants, they have lost two of their last year's star team so that their present chances of repeating seem a trifle dimmed. The D. K. E.'s seem to be the present favorites, but that means but little to their opponents.

Women's Tennis Semi-Finals.

Rose Marchiano '29, Myrtle Bachelder '30, Miriam Hasseltine '31 and Barbara Landis '32 as class champions among the women's college are now playing off the semi-finals of the fall tournament. Miss Marchiano, who was the college champion last year won from Barbara Landis 7-5, 5-7 and 6-3. Miss Bachelder and Miss Hasseltine will play off their match within the next few days and the winner will then meet the present senior champion in the finals.

Vermont's first home game proved to be a dismal failure to the fans, for Coach Rattan's Catamounts let the Terriers score four touchdowns before the game came to a close. Bass, a freshman at B. U. was about the whole show, with the exception of Marston of Boston who intercepted a pass and went 62 yards for a touchdown. Vermont was overshadowed in every department of the game and in no case came within a scoring distance. The injuries received in the first two games have severely handicapped the Vermonter's signs of success.

Again Coane of Norwich was the Cadets shining light when he did the scoring in the Colby game. It will be remembered that Coane was the only Norwich man to score on the Dartmouth eleven in the last 16 years. Coach Graham's forward passing attack is reaching dangerous proportions and is a sure point winner for the Cadets. Kane, another Norwich man made two 40-yard runds and a 50 yard run, which helped. Norwich made all three talleys from forward passes. Two of them from O'Donnell to Coane and one, an intercepted pass by Coane.

Hamilton kept up its winning streak, or at least their successful season, by holding the fast Rochester team to a 13-13 tie. Hamilton's forward passing attack resulted in her tallies, directly and indirectly, while their opponents used straight football.

Making 20 points in one period gave the Amherst-Haverford game a rather dramatic finish, especially when all of the 20 points were made in the last period. Amherst scored on a 50 and a 45 yard run, one by Wilson and the other by Grosskloss.

M. C. A. LISTENS TO DR. HEWITT ON LIFE

Informal Discussion Held By Group After Sunday Vespers.

The Middlebury Christian Association held an informal discussion Sunday evening, October 14, at Hepburn Hall, with Dr. A. W. Hewitt, of Plainfield, as chief speaker. The meeting, which was well attended, was of interest to those wanting to hear the problems of life, religion and conduct explained by a leading figure on the subject.

Dr. Hewitt's talk was practical in nature. He demonstrated to the group that great and successful men do not become such by chance or circumstance. Rather, they fit circumstances to their lives, and mold men to their will. "Roosevelt," he said, "was great because he had, as did others, three characteristics fundamental to his nature; concentration, energy and courage. Most men have these qualities, but only to a degree. One must strive to make them dominant in his character, else his chance of success is dimmed in proportion."

"In religion, which is the highest of man's experience," he continued, "maturity and knowledge make believers of the most hardened and skeptical men. Knowledge of God cannot be gained from books, but from that experience with man and the world that one cannot, in time, fail to gain. Achieving belief in a Superior Being is like studying a difficult subject. It is hard and seems almost insuperable, at first, but constant application brings its reward. We learn fact and afterwards we know it to be truth. This is the ultimate wisdom that follows knowledge, provided that one has the determination to think through."

"Suppose a man were born lacking sight, hearing and speech. Suppose he continued in this state until maturity. Then imagine that he received the use of his faculties one by one. The beauty of the world would strike his senses and intelligence with force. That is like discovering God. He is about us all the time, but we do not recognize His presence. In time we learn, and then only do we catch the vision of beauty and love in all things that is the spirit of Christianity."

Following the talk, an informal meeting was held. A roster of members was made up, and R. H. Amerman, '31, of the Cabinet, was assigned to write a paper to be published and distributed at the Springfield game Saturday.

Jim Tully Interviews Tom Mix and Will Rogers

"Both Tom Mix and Will Rogers are wealthy and unspoiled," Jim Tully in the November College Humor. "Both have a genius for common sense, and eyes that see far into life. Neither man has the least shred of pretense. And in a nation that worships money, they each a half million dollars a year.

"Will Rogers and Tom Mix are the same type of men. Their stature, build and contour of features are about the same. Their words and thinking are mixed with the salt and blood of life. With hearts as open as old-fashioned ranch houses, they are free of the cheap veneer which spoils so many shallow people in Hollywood.

" 'What about your old pal, Tom Mix, Will?' I asked.

" 'Oh, they hain't none better than him. He's a great fellow. I've knowed thirty years. You hear about new Western stars supplantin' Tom, as they say, but they hain't done it yet. Tom's like Henry Ford—he's smart.'

"Tom Mix says of Will Rogers, 'In all the time I've known Bill, I hain't never known him to do an unkind thing to nobody; he's four square an' a yard wide, is Bill. He reminds me o' men like Mark Twain an' Walter Whitman; they didn't have a lot of education, but they both had a lot o' sense, an' some day people are goin' to remember Will jist like they remember them.'

"A great, genuine affection exists between these two men who have gone so far on the road to fame."

The first piano was made in Philadelphia in 1775.

10 YEARS AGO

(Taken from the October 16, 1918, issue of the CAMPUS.)

From the Chapel Tower.

What a variety of interesting scenes the old Chapel-tower has looked down upon in its more than three score and ten years of observation! There have been thousands of anxious students hurrying to and fro from recitations, class scraps, sentimental couples, midnight escapades, bolting classes bolting out in fierce haste upon the campus, the somber robed annual commencement procession, class day exercises under the maples, and hundreds of other pictures in the Kaleidoscope. What a history it could write!

It is not the first view of uniforms that it is now seeing, for in the '60's the young recruits mustered their ranks under the old trees. But it never before saw armed sentries pacing day and night across the walks challenging any visitor who wishes to go near the buildings.

Sophomores at Antioch college are still undecided whether the class of 1932 is a group of good sports or too dumb to know any better.

Last week the sophs set a precedent in these parts when they put it up to the frosh to decide if there would be any hazing this year.

The freshmen had a meeting, and voted overwhelmingly in favor of the favorite sophomore indoor sport.

At any rate, the compliance of the sophomores was exceptionally prompt. —(IP).

So far this season there have been seven deaths from high school and college football.—(IP).

Cornell Also Has Its Movie Rackets

A "gentlememn's agreement" has been entered into by Cornell university men and the manager of the Strand Theater here, whereby the students may have all the fun they like at the second Saturday night show, providing they behave themselves the rest of the week while attending the theater.

The pact was sealed following a disturbance in the theater created recently by the students, and after which the manager in strong words told the undergraduates where to "head in."

One of the students wrote the following letter to the Cornel Dail Sun:

"The Saturday night show at the Strand was the scene of one of the most malignant and spiteful attack ever directed at the Cornell student body. During a performance for which a monopoly price of fifty cents was extracted, a sensitive New York cowboy from Wyoming objected to the good natured remarks of disapproval spontaneously emitted by the audience. Despite the natural and inalienable right of a non-gratuitous audience to manifest its disapproval of fifth rate "entertainment" by hissing and groaning, a choleric manager lost his head and gave vent to some barroom language.

"I for one object to having Cornell students designated as 'dirty rats' and 'scum of the earth', and I feel I am not alone in my resentment. Cornell deserves an immediate public apology."

Commenting on the letter, the editor of the Sun said in part:

"Our correspondent is a member of the 17th century philosophical school that believed in 'natural and inalienable' rights. There is, however, no exercise of these alleged 'rights', no booing or hissing at University function or Dramatic club performances. Does our correspondent assumes the right to cast off his painful gentlemanly manner as soon as he goes down town?"

In an interview with a Sun reporter, Mr. Will Dillon, the manager in question promised:

"I am giving the students the freedom of the theater for the second performance of each Saturday night show . . . I wish to emphosize, however, that in return the students must agree to confine all boisterousness strictly to that performance on that day, and our gentlemen's agreement will be carefully observed.

"I'll give them an arena for the Strand 'Weekly Whoopee,'" Dillon Dillon added. "Anything within reason and anything good-natured will be permitted."—(IP).

The University of Idaho boasts an all-American coaching staff.

The three coaches are Head Coach Charley F. Erb, Jr., who was on Walter Camp's team of 1923, Line Coach Stewart N. Beam, who won a place on Camp's team in 1924, and Ralph F. Hutchinson, new assistant coach, second all-American quarterback in 1899. —(IP).

French universities and military colleges have bidden farewell to hazing, following an edict sent out by M. Herriot minister of public instruction, and M. Painleve, minister of war.

The edict forbids "brimades," or practical jokes and hazing, and specifies that freshmen must be "cordially welcomed and treated fairly and kindly."—(IP).

Three Triumphant Yankees conduct the Blindfold test . . . and MILLER HUGGINS picks OLD GOLD

The Babe and Lou here will tell you that there is only one way to choose a pitcher . . . and that's to send him into the box and let him twirl a few innings.

So the best way to choose a cigarette is to put them all through their paces in the blindfold test.

In the test I have just made, OLD GOLD played right into my mitt. Its zippy flavor and mellow smoothness couldn't be touched by the other three brands.

Aggie Forward Pass Beats Panther 7-0

kicking to the Aggies on the 33 yard line from where it was returned to the 43 yard line. With a series of line bucks and end runs the Farmers made two first downs, bringing the ball to the Panther 35 yard line, from where they were unable to do anything but kick the ball over the goal line, after attempting several forward passes. Middlebury then advanced the pigskin to the 32 yard line for first down. After several unsuccessful attempts to advance the ball they kicked to the opponents 30 yard line. The Aggies punted back on second down, Johnson running it back 10 yards to bring his team to the 45 yard line. The next four plays by Willis and Guarnaccia advanced the ball 30 yards to the Baystater's 32 yard line, where a kick gave the ball to M. A. C. on the 10 yard marker. In the next play Ellert ran 25 yards and on the next two gained nine more. This is where the trouble began. Middlebury was penalized half the distance to the goal putting the Aggies on the 27 yard line. The next four plays netted the Farmers first down, but the officials almost had to use a micrometer to decide it. They tried a line buck and then the pass that launched a thousand cheers in the Aggie grand stands. A place kick scored the extra point. The Baystaters kicked to Johnson who made a brilliant 25 yard dash before he could be stopped. The period ended with Middlebury in possession of the ball on their own 45 yard line. Score, M. A. C. 7, Middlebury 0.

The Panthers started the last quarter in good style, making 20 yards in the first three plays, but the fourth, a pass, was intercepted. In the next two plays M. A. C. gained 14 yards, but their attempted forwards in the next plays were not successful, they punted, putting the ball on the Blue's 30 yard line. Then the Vermonters started on a rampage. Several passes were completed for a total of 30 yards and then came in "Sammy" Guarnaccia's 30 yord run which put the Blue on the nine yard line. But here the Aggies held and then kicked out of danger. The Panthers attempted several passes and line plays to give Massachusetts the ball on downs. The Baystaters then tried a few passes, one of which was intercepted. The game ended with Middlebury making a forward pass which was not successful. Score M. A. C. 7, Middlebury 0.

With Our Opponents

kept the team from Canisius College of Buffalo from scoring at least three more touchdowns, when they defeated the Springfield eleven 6 to 0. Canisius sported a flashy aerial attack and some trick formations that confused the Maroon men. Coach Rothaker used 28 men in trying to find a winning Springfield combiation.

Williams' first invasion of the State of Maine resulted in the downfall of Bowdoin by the score of 20 to 6. Frequent fumbles of both teams made the playing rather ragged. Twice in the first period Williams men took the ball across the goal line only to be called back because of offside. Langmaid and Howe were the stars of the game.

The Bates College team put up a stubborn fight to hold the Tufts team to a 13 to 0 victory, having the ball within five yards of the goal line when the final whistle blew. Captain Ellis of Tufts was the optstanding player, scoring one of the touchdowns and making several spectacular runs and punts.

Our opponents play the following games this week:

Springfield vs. Middlebury at Middlebury.

Amherst vs. Hamilton at Amherst.

Tufts vs. Bowdoin at Brunswick.

Norwich vs. M. A. C. at Northfield.

Vermont vs. Union at Schenectady.

Williams vs. R. P. I. at Williamstown.

Abe Martin on Young People.

"I'm gittin' blamed tired o' bein' told I'm gittin' ole ever' time I express my opinion about a lot o' th' stuff that's bein' pulled t'day," says Abe Martin in the November College Humor. "O' course, ther's allus been spoonin' in dimly lighted parlors, an' on wistaria-clad verandas, but girls wore somethin' besides breech cloths, an' boys didn' hold up livery stables fer money t' show 'em a good time.

"Mebbe our girls are wiser, more frank an' open an' self-reliant than they used t' be, but I'd hate t' marry one an' have any loose hammers or book ends layin' around, unless I owned a bank. An' it's probably true that never has our boys been as nifty lookin', as advanced, an' as capable an' as resourceful as they are t'day, but jest th' same I'd hate t' run a fillin' station or meet a flock o' them on a dark night.

"I remember when young ladies used t' hitch behind th' courthouse so's nobuddy could see 'em step in an' out o' ther buggies. I don't know what sort o' stockin's they had on, or how they stacked up, but they never sued fer any alimony. Th' girl o' t'day would try t' step on a camel if th' crowd wuz big enough."

THE SMOKING HABIT.

College girls who smoke are not harming their health much as non-smokers who eat lots of candy. This is the conclusion reached by Dr. Anna Richardson, Smith College physician, after a survey of cigerette popularity among students at that institution.

In an article entitled "How Well Are the Seniors?", Doctor Richardson gives facts and figures on the student smoking situation. As regards the class that graduated in June, she found that:

Two-thirds of the girls were occasional or habitual users of cigarettes. Twenty-one per cent smoked five to 20 cigarettes per day, 21 per cent smoked one to four cigarettes per day, 23 per cent smoked occasionally, "either to be in it socially or not to feel that they are silent rebukes to their frieids", 35 per cent did not smoke.

Considering the effect of tobacco on the student's health Doctor Richardson said that "actual harm in the smoking itself is probably not so great as continuously to nibble sweets."—Cornell Daily Sun.

A special program on the historic Cornell chimes in the Library Tower, featured the 60th anniversary and rededication exercises of the augmented "Chimes of Cornell." The new bells added to the chimes this summer gave the carillon a range of two complete octaves.

Played for the first time on Oct. 7, 1868, the chimes have become a Cornell tradition and are regarded as one of the finest sets of bells in the country.—(IP).

VIEWPOINTS

BROUN SCORES.

Heywood Broun, nationally known columnist, offered a good argument in favor of co-educational institutions in an interview printed recently in the New York University Daily Student.

Broun said: "I'm strong for the co-ed and heartily believe in co-education. I think it's the best thing for colleges. It's preferable for the college man to have association with women in the college rather than outside it. When there is no opportunity with in the college, the men will go outside and associate with women on a lower intellectual social standing, and they often show a preference for waitresses.

"The monastic idea, of purely men's colleges, is all wrong! I can't see them at all."

Those who oppose the co-educational college will find difficulty in answering Broun's argument.

Tri-Delta and K. K. G. Teas for Freshmen

Delta Delta Delta and Kappa Kappa Gamma sororities gave teas to the members of the freshmen class during the past week. The Tri-Delta tea was held Wednesday, October 10, at the home of Mrs. Frank E. Howard, a patroness. Emeline Amidon '29, Miss Ellen Wiley and Miss Prudence Fish were in the receiving line. Mrs. John P. Davison poured.

Kappa Kappa Gamma house was open to the freshmen Friday, October 12. Catherine Hodges '29, Mrs. William Upson and Marion Cruikshank '30, received. Mrs. Vernon C. Harrington, Mrs. Ernest Bryant and Mildred Ross poured.

Beauty Contest for Men Staged by Ohio Co-Eds.

Ohio State.—From an article which appears in the "Ohio State Lantern," it seems that the fair coeds are tired of bearing the brunt of beauty contests. In the halls of one of the sorority houses there recently were posted the photographs of a number of men who are prominent about campus. These pictures were donated by members of the sorority from their personal collections.

The girls gathered around the pictures and as the judges scanned them that did not pass their approval were taken down. This continued until only one visage remained. The last photo was proclaimed the winner and left to adorn the hall.

Although an attempt was made to keep the contest a secret, the information leaked out and was spread about the other houses. The name of the winner, however, is still unknown. The daily paper speculates on the possibility of a public beauty contest for men.

Can anyone place the following quotations?—

Those hewers of the clouds, the Winds,
—that lair
At the four compass-points,—are out tonight;
I hear their sandels trample on the height,
I hear their voices trumpet through the air.

I thank, thee, glorious wind! Thou bringest me
Something that breathes of mountain crags and pines,
Yea,—more—from the unsullied, farthest North.
Where crashing icebergs jar like thunder shocks,
And midnight splendors wave and fade and flame,
Thou bringest a keen, fierce joy.

Where's the land o' Dreamland?
How should I know?
On the moon's farther side,
Where the drift clouds ride,
And the stars hang low.

Close in the nest is folded every weary wing,
Hushed all the joyful voices; and we who hold you dear,
Eastward we turn and homeward, alone, remembering
Day that I love, Day that I loved, the Night is here.

1930 and 1931 Victorious In First Hockey Games

The two hockey games which have been played off in the annual tourney of the women's college gave victory to the juniors and to the sophomores, the former defeating the seniors and the latter winning from the freshmen.

Thursday, October 11, the seniors met the juniors in a game the outcome of which was at no time certain. When the final whistle blew the score stood 6-5 in favor of 1930. Excellent playing was displayed on both sides. The sophomore-freshman game was played the following afternoon. This was the first time that the freshmen had taken part in much organized scrimmage but they gave evidence of good material. The result of this game was sophomores, 6, freshmen 2.

PROF. WRIGHT SPEAKS ON MIDD'S GRADUATES

Middlebury Has Produced Men of Importance To State and Nation.

"The influence of Middlebury graduates and their value to the world is like a constant stream that cannot be estimated," said Professor Emeritus Charles B. Wright in an informal talk to the women's college that followed the regular Student Government Association meeting in Mead Chapel last Tuesday.

Professor Wright told of incidents in the administrations of our presidents and presented the historical background of the college.

He said that the test of a college's worth was in its graduates, and Middlebury's record has surely been of the best. Counting up to 1923 the following estimate of the product of the college was made:

Fifteen diplomatic representatives have been Middlebury men.

Fourteen Middlebury men have become governors of states.

Five hundred and thirty-one Middlebury men have been admitted to the bar.

Middlebury has produced 128 judges and justices.

Thirty-nine Middlebury men have become college presidents.

Forty-eight seminaries and preparatory schools have been governed by men from Middlebury.

As physicians and surgeons there are 168 Middlebury men. Some are distinguished specialists.

Seventy foreign missionaries have taken the imprint of Middlebury to all parts of the world—Africa, China, Japan, Turkey, India, and the Hawaiin Islands.

Of Middlebury graduates 670 have gone into the ministry.

Middlebury has produced a total of 1,396 teachers.

Two Middlebury men have presided over the Supreme Court of the United States.

Some 600 are serving the business world including nine railway presidents and 39 well known engineers.

In the field of literature Professor Wright mentioned Myron Saxe, 1839, a well known poet; Edward Phelps, 1840, lawyer and author; Henry Hudson, 1840, famous for his work on Shakespeare; Charles Mead, 1856, professor, writer, and translator; Miron Winslow, 1815, editor and translator; and Glidden Haines, 1816, author, and attorney general of New York State who was declared by Daniel Webster to have been the most brilliant man in the country at the time.

Freshmen Hold Football Rally

The class of 1932 held its first football rally in the McCullough Gymnasium Friday night. Frederick Zuck, president, was the master of the ceremonies. Howard Duquette and Walter Nelson, the two captains of the Frosh team each gave a short talk. Coach Hessler spoke on the need for greater and more enthusiastic support of the team.

The Freshmen organized a band for the occasion and accompanied it with snappy renditions of the college songs the like of which has never been seen before in Middlebury. A. Woodward, cheer leader, was a big factor in livening up the meeting.

D. U. WINS IN TOUCH-FOOTBALL.

Sunday afternoon gave rise to the annual series of touch-football games between K. D. R. and D. U., and resulted in a victory for the latter by a score of 8-1.

The attack of the D. U. warriors was featured by a series of lateral passes whereas the K. D. R.'s resorted to long forwards. This game proved to be a very enjoyable and interesting pastime for those concerned.

Touch-football games such as this should create much interest on the campus as one of the sports contested for the intramural trophy.

COLLEGE APPOINTS WATCHMAN.

Edward Lockwood of Rutland has been secured by Mr. Weston to take the position of full-time watchman for the college. It was felt by the underwriters of the college that a student watchman making only one round a night was not adequate. Mr. Lockwood goes on duty early in the evening and works all night.

PRESS COMMENTS ON BILLY'S LEAVING AND PENSION AWARD

Middlebury college has bestowed on a janitor an honor never in the history of the college accorded an official of the college.

The board of trustees, the heads of the college and the students took part in a ceremony in honor of William Farrell, for 33 years chief janitor of the college, who has been retired on a pension, the first ever granted any of the college's personnel.

Farrell has served under four president since he came in 1895, has seen the college more than double its number of students, and has seen twelve new buildings appear on the campus. He has known personally two generations of Middlebury students.—(IP).

SIXTY-EIGHT YEAR OLD BANKER SEEKS DEGREE

William Leonard Benedict, former Boston and New York banker, who is sixty-eight years old, is a junior at Harvard University this year. He is completing work for a degree that he started at Massachusetts Institute of Technology more than fifty years ago. He was a member of the class of 1880 at M. I. T., but left the school at the end of his second year to enter the employ of Kidder, Peabody & Co., bankers. In 1910 he was made a resident partner of the firm. He retired at the beginning of this year. Now he is attending lectures at Harvard in order to gain a Bachelor of Science degree. He says he feels no older than during his earlier student days, and that his books and lectures are fully as interesting as they were fifty years ago.

HEWITT URGES MORE "CASTLES IN SPAIN"

"Stick To Your Ideals Even If The World Does Laugh at Them."

"Castles in Spain,' the high impossible ideals of youth are not to be laughed at," said Dr. Hewitt of Plainfield in his speech at vespers in Mead Memorial Chapel Sunday; "do not let this business-like, pleasure loving world, laughing at your ideals, extinguish the divine spark of genius."

Dr. Hewitt in opening his address remarked that he trembled in bringing up such an intangible subject, which, he was afraid, would appeal to few. And knowing college audiences, he said that a speaker gets from them either their sympathy or their complete boredom. Dr. Hewitt certainly received the sympathy, for the college listened with evident interest.

He spoke of the Apostle Paul's castles in Spain, his dream of extending the gospel to what was to him the utmost province of the world, and said, "like Paul, every boy, girl, every man and woman has ideals, ideals that are high, and sometimes visionary, and I am here to tell you today, with the authority of a prophet of God, not to turn back, not to abandon your ideals in the face of a laughing world. The world wants our best, although she acts as if she did not want it. If the finger of flame of the Holy Spirit touches one, the world laughs and leaves him to go on bleeding feet, with a breaking heart, if he has the courage to stick to his ideal.

"Have that courage. Some ideals may be laughable, but some are surely sent by God, and do not let popular disapproval quench your fire. Blake was for a hundred years forgotten, and 'Paradise Lost' called a poem by a blind schoolmaster remarkable for nothing but its length.

"Why not believe that dreams can be realized? Love your ideals, for in loving we become more like that thing which we love; follow your dreams and you will be in the midst of realization."

The highest score in one game made last season was credited to St. Xavier, at Cincinnati, which defeated Lee university, in Kentucky, to the merry tune of 132 to 0, a score estimated to be about the limit possible in a regulation time game.—(IP).

Michigan State university's gridders have made an early bid for recognition as high scorers in the 1928 football season by defeating Kalamazoo college 103 to 0. This is the highest score which has been made this year by a well-known college or university eleven.

Pest Welch, Purdue's brilliant halfback who won fame for himself last year by defeating Harvard in football almost single-handed, is believed to be the only man who ever caught a football thrown from a speeding airplane nearly two hundred feet in the air.

The opening ceremonies for the annual Varsity-Freshman football game in the Ross-Ade Stadium provided the setting for the distinctly athletic feat. —(IP).

The university of Toronto, following the example set by McGill university, has opened the first Library School in Ontario, giving a full year's training in that subject.—(IP).

Oregon State College will exhibit a football novelty this season in the shape of a barefoot kicker. Henry (Honolulu) Hughes, who learned the game in Hawaii where he became proficient as a punter, drop-kicker and place kicker with his bare feet, says he cannot get results while wearing shoes, and so will be permitted to boot with his bare feet.

Coach Paul J. Schissler is searching now for a pair of shoes which Hughes can slip on and off in a moment, for the Oregon State mentor does not want to risk Hughes' unshod feet in a scrimmage, and he will wear the shoes when he is not kicking.—(IP).

Annie Mae Engle, University of Texas co-ed has completed a hitch-hike from Austin to New York City, according to a letter received by her friends here.—(IP).

SAXONION ELECTS MASSIE AND DENIO

Two new members have been elected to the staff of Saxonion. They are Elizabeth Massie '31 as contributing editor, and Edward Denio '29 as art editor.

Miss Massie has had several poems published in the Saxonion.

Mr. Denio is filling a new office which has been created with the prospect of beautifying the magazine. He was the designer of the cover of the commencement number of the Saxonion. He also has had experience as Art Editor of the 1928 Kaleidoscope and of the Blue Baboon.

Professor Barney Delivers Address.

Last Friday evening Professor Barney addressed the Dorset Society of Natural History at Dorset, Vt., on the subject, "Some Biological Aspects of the Food and Population Problem.

College Youth.

We are now speaking for modern youth.

Barrages of criticism are constantly levelled at him from pulpit, press and whatnot. Mostly destructive! He is told that he is thoughtless, materialistic, selfish, reckless, cynical, immoral, inconoclastic, lazy, egotistical, and so infinitum. In comment we should like to say this. Much, if not all, of these charges may be merited. under given circumstances and in given situations. We can not in fairness beg that point. What aggravates us is the spirit in which most of this sort of thing is done.

Rarely do we find any evidence of the attempt to understnad him and his problems which his critics profess to be motive to their observations. All is a cold, logical, dispassionate statement of his follies ending in the assertion that he is 'going to the dogs'.

What we ask for him is a sympathetic hearing; an appreciation of the fact that all these labelled-wrongs on his part are the result of an attempt to work out for himself better solutions to problems of life some of which seemed to have been dismissed with an airy gesture by parents, or if not that, then have been written down as incipable of satisfactory solution. Above all do we ask for recognition of the sincerity of his efforts along this line.

This granted we believe there cannot but be sympathy, tolerance and finally very real help on the part of those who have already faced many of the issues with the which he is confronted.

To find out how strange girls in big cities get and keep jobs, reports Collier's for Oct. 20, the national student council of the Y. M. C. A. brought 24 college girls, all industrially inexperienced, into Chicago and turned them loose to find jobs.

Four days later all were employed. They got from $3.50 a week making lampshades, to $28 a week overtiming radio assembles. When the experiment ran its six weeks, the girls found that after paying all expenses and allowing for wear on clothing, their average profit was $5.03, less than a dollar a week.—(IP).

The favorable results attending this year's invasion of Japan by the University of Illinois baseball team may lead to making such a tour a once-every-three-years affair, according to university athletic officials.

The American team won seven and tied one out of eleven games played with Japanese teams.—(IP).

Secondary and higher educational institutions in the United States are estimated to have total enrolments of over five million students this year. Of these approximately one million are attending colleges, universities, and graduate schools.—(IP).

Huskies on the University of Nebraska football team are given a pint of egg malted milk shake after practice every day.—(IP).

Professor Wilfred Davison spoke at the Y. W. C. A. meeting which was held at Pearsons Social Hall Wednesday evening, October 10. He gave his interpretation of the book of Jonah which proved both interesting and instructive to the fair sized audience that attended.
